CIAA HOOPS ALL-STARS

The Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association has announced its all-conference teams and players of the year as selected by the men's and women's basketball coaches associations. The women's team is headlined by Virginia Union forward Tonaye Smith (Sr./F/5-11/Detroit, MI), who has been named the 2010 CIAA Player of the Year. Smith leads the CIAA in scoring, averaging 18.9 points per game. She is also averaging 7.2 rebounds per game.

Defensive Player of the Year honors went to Deja Middleton of Fayetteville State, who led the conference in blocked shots (2.0) and was second in rebounding at 9.2 per contest.

The men's team is headlined by Bowie State's Player of the Year, Duke Crews (Sr./F/6-8/Hampton, VA). Crews is the only player in the CIAA averaging a double-double, recording 16.8 points and 10.3 rebounds per game. In addition, he ranks second in the conference in blocked shots, averaging 2.5 per game.

Defensive Player of the Year honors for the men went to Bowie State's 6-11 center Travis Hyman. Hyman leads the conference blocking 4.0 shots per game, fourth best in the nation. He also averages 6.5 rebounds per game to go with a 10.3 points per game scoring average.

The All-CIAA Teams and Players of the Year were honored at the 2010 CIAA Basketball Tournament Tip-Off Luncheon on Tuesday, February 23rd. A complete list of All-Conference performers is provided below:

CIAA Tourney tips in Charlotte

LUT WILLIAMS

BCSP Editor

The on-court excitement and off-court fun of the CIAA Basketball Tournament arrives this week in Charlotte as droves of fans descend on North Carolina's Queen City for the five-day extravaganza.

The men of St. Augustine's and women of Virginia State are the top seeds on the court looking to put a cap on outstanding regular season performances. Both should face stiff challenges.

Off the court, the headliners include gospel singer Yolanda Adams and comedian Steve Harvey, but there's plenty more for the expected crowd of over 150,000 that will inundate the city. Non-stop official activities (see sampling of official list below) and the equally non-stop unofficial events go on past Saturday evening's championship games.

St. Augustine's (17-3, 21-4), under second-year coach Lonnie Blow, Jr., won 14 of its last 15 games to take the men's regular season crown by three games over second-seed Bowie State.

The Falcons are led by 6-2 senior guard Chris Jordan (16.2 ppg.), the top 3-point marksman (40.9%) in the conference, and 6-5 junior forward Haywood Fain (11.7 ppg., 8.1 rpg.), both all-CIAA performers. SAC also leads the league in scoring (76.2 ppg.) and holds opponents to 36.2% shooting from the field, tops in all of Div. II basketball.

The Falcons' losses in conference play were to the Nos. 2, 3 and 4 seeds - Bowie State (14-6, 16-9), Virginia Union (14-6, 19-8) and first-
